THE QUEEN, FLANKED BY PRINCE PHILIP, BONN'S PRESIDENT LUEBKE

New Understanding Urged By Queen On German Visit

KOBLENZ (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth was cheered by thousands of West Germans today when she appeared for Anglo-German efforts to "urge a new and better understanding between the two countries."

The 20-year-old sovereign, accompanied by a flag-waving crowd, was in this wine-growing centre 35 miles south of Bonn, making the first public speech of her 11-day state visit to West Germany.

She spoke near Deutsches Eck (German Corner), where the Rhine and Moselle Rivers meet.

At Koblenz, where the royal couple arrived after two days of a great effort to remember the things which unite us. With the Queen and her husband boarded a Rhine ferry for a three-hour trip upstream to Kaub. There they were due to board the royal train for Wiesbaden, capital of Anglo-Prussian alliance against the state of Hesse.

Tax Relief For Homeowners Urged By Municipal Leaders

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A resolution asking for some relief from personal income tax for homeowners was approved Wednesday by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities on the third day of its 28th annual meeting here.

The mayors agreed that money paid out in municipal taxes should not be subject to further taxation and should be a deductible item on the income tax form.

Reeve Melvin Swart of Thorold Township said an injustice exists when apartment house owners can deduct their municipal taxes but private homeowners cannot.

A further suggestion was made that interest on mortgage payments on owner-occupied dwellings be made deductible for income tax purposes. Mr. Swart said this is already in England and the United States.

Another resolution asked that the federal government's municipal development loan fund be extended and that the fund be made available for projects started at least by Dec. 31, 1966. The deadline now is March 31, 1966.

Girl Of 6 Killed At Golf Practise

SAINT JOSEPH, Mich. (AP)—Six-year-old Sandra Toffelmire was standing by a football field as her brothers, Richard, 17, and Robert, 23, were practising golf ball drives Wednesday.

Sandra was about 250 feet away. A ball driven by Richard struck her on the head, police said. Sandra was dead on arrival at hospital.

MARITAL BLISS SNORED OUT

Big Mistake From Start

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Luther G. Davis told the court this sequence of events took place when he arrived home around midnight after attending a lodge meeting.

His wife, Edith, was in bed snoring.

He got into bed without disturbing her and fell asleep—only to be awakened a short time later when she kicked him in the leg.

She got up, jerked a sheet and a blanket from him and said, "I'm not going to sleep with anybody who snores like that," and struck him on the head with a billy club.

This led to his obtaining a warrant and charging her with assault and battery.

At this point in her trial before Judge Ralph Miller of People's Court, Mrs. Davis, a school bus driver, testified.

CLAIMS BEER SMELL

Davis smelled of beer when he came home at 2:30 a.m., slammed a door, dropped his shoes, "made all kinds of noise," went to bed—and started to snore.

"I asked him three times to turn over," she said.

After her husband slapped her she tapped him with the billy club which he seized. He threatened her, pinched her and threw "my little pug dog clear across the living room."

The judge ruled that, although Davis slapped her, she "could just as easily have walked away" instead of picking up the billy club.

He found her guilty as charged, suspended sentence and commented:

"Apparently neither you nor your husband should have got married in the first place."

Canada Seeks French Sale

PARIS (Reuters)—Mitchell Sharp, Canadian minister of trade and industry, arrived in Paris today by air for talks on a long-term contract for the sale of 45,000 tons of Canadian uranium oxide to France.

He was due to confer later today with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Yves Bourges, minister in charge of atomic affairs and scientific research.

The negotiations conducted between Denison Mines and the French Atomic Energy Commissariat for the supply of uranium oxide for the next 25 years were bogged down over a Canadian "control clause" which the French government rejected outright.

Canada, a member of the international atomic energy agency, is seeking international supervision to ensure that the uranium is used for peaceful purposes.

The French say they do not see why there should be any political conditions attached to the sale of Canadian uranium when none were required in deals with the United States and Britain.

Ceylon Says: "We're Broke"

COLOMBO (Reuters)—Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake said here today Ceylon is on the verge of bankruptcy.

Addressing a government parliamentary group, Senanayake said the country's financial situation is serious. "There is hardly any money to finance even essential imports," he added.

The prime minister put the blame for the financial difficulties on the government headed by Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, which was defeated in the general election last March.

He said the non-settlement of claims of oil companies for compensation and the lack of any measures to set right the country's financial and monetary system were the drawbacks to obtaining foreign aid.

Senanayake said within a month of the new government coming to power it had settled the oil compensation dispute and a team of the International Monetary Fund had visited the country for discussions on correcting the financial position.

He said a team of the World Bank was expected in Ceylon soon to discuss foreign aid.

BUT NOT ENOUGH

Canadian labor leaders say that Prime Minister Pearson's program of loans and grants, for workers who want to move to other jobs, should go farther than it does.

"It's good, as far as it goes," said Donald MacDonald, above, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Labor Congress. He suggested that the plan be established on a straight grants basis rather than loans. (See page 2).

Canada's Envoy "No Hooligan"

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government repudiates the allegations made against Col. Curtis Greenleaf, Canadian military attaché in Moscow, by the Russian newspaper Izvestia, External Affairs Minister Martin said Wednesday.

Mr. Martin, replying to Opposition House Leader Sturt, said in the Commons that Canadian Ambassador R. A. D. Ford's attention was drawn to the "allegations" Monday by the Russian foreign ministry.

Mr. Ford, having had an opportunity to assess Col. Greenleaf's work and character, immediately took issue with the suggestions of the Russian foreign ministry, Mr. Martin said.

He reiterated that the government has the fullest confidence in Col. Greenleaf. There was no basis whatsoever, according to the information supplied, for the Izvestia allegations.

The newspaper accused Col. Greenleaf of "hooliganism" after a drinking party.

Dominica Truce For Burial Urged

SANTO DOMINGO (CP)—Meetings for a daylight ceasefire between the Red Cross and Dominican Republic forces and dead in the fierce battle in the Dominican Republic to sign a 12-hour ceasefire and allow the removal of dead and wounded from the fighting zone.

The Red Cross said bodies of men, women and children had been rotting in the streets for days.

A spokesman for the UN peace mission said both the junta and the rebels have agreed "in principle" to the 12-hour ceasefire.

But the spokesman said that Col. Francisco Caamaño, head of the "constitutional" rebel government, refused to sign a joint agreement with Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, the "national reconstruction" junta president.

The UN official said efforts would be made to try to get the two sides to sign separate agreements.

Johnson Order Of Strict Neutrality Still Adhered To Says White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today American troops in the Dominican Republic remain under orders from President Johnson to "observe neutrality" between contending junta and rebel forces.

Press secretary George E. Reedy made the statement when asked about published reports that American troops have been aiding the junta cause.

Incidence that U.S. troops are remaining neutral came also from Arthur Silverstein, assistant defence secretary for public affairs, and Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. representative to the Organization of American States.

Reedy referred to the published reports as involving "operational matters" and said that all questions on the subject would be answered by deputy defence secretary Cyrus Vance, who is in Santo Domingo.

Reedy said he thought Vance "would make himself available to the press at an early time."

London Strike "Not In Book" And Literary World Shaken

LONDON (CP)—An unprecedented strike at Foyles, which claims to be the largest bookshop in the world, caused a sensation in London literary circles Wednesday.

More than 100 militant sales staff, members of the Union of Shop, Distributive and Allied Workers, picketed the famous store in Charing Cross Road demanding higher wages and better working conditions.

The staff decided on strike action after 22-year-old Marius Webb, an Australian union organizer, was fired Tuesday. The management of Foyles claims Webb was fired because of chronic lateness.

The store, now run by Miss Christina Foyle, is also famous for its literary luncheons and its best-book prizes.

King-Of-Kings Urges Canada To Help Have-Not Nations

OTTAWA (CP)—The Shah of Iran called on Canada today to set "a brilliant example" in the world-wide drive to cut the gap between the have and have-not nations.

The Iranian ruler, in the major speech of his week-long state visit to Canada, said his country's material prosperity and "social and moral conditions" qualified it for a leading role in efforts to raise international economic standards.

"I feel certain that Canada will accomplish this mission splendidly," he told a Canadian Club luncheon.

The 35-year-old "king of kings," who began his first Canadian visit Wednesday, said the drive to raise world living standards was a crucial one.

The current gap is "not only unacceptable to human conscience, but dangerous for world peace." It was at the root of many world problems and they would be solved only if the rich help the poor.

Wealthy nations, like Canada, had a "moral duty" to provide such assistance.

Fifth Worst Air Disaster Occurs In Egyptian Desert

CAIRO (Reuters)—A Pakistan jetliner inaugurating a new route from Karachi to London crashed in flames on a rugged desert country 10 miles from Cairo Airport today, killing 121 persons.

Airport officials said there were six survivors, all of them badly injured.

Of the 115 passengers aboard, 83 were listed as Pakistanis, 12 Chinese and 10 other foreigners, whose nationalities were given only as Canadian, U.S., Lebanese and Egyptian.

There was no immediate breakdown of identification of the foreigners.

The passenger list included at least three children, an airline spokesman said.

It was the fifth worst air crash in aviation history.

Two of the survivors were employees of the Pakistan International Airline and another was a Pakistani tourist official. Three of the men were reported in critical condition.

Among the passengers were 62 newspaper men, airline officials and other guests invited for the inaugural trip. The same plane had made three inaugural flights over the route.

Officials said that only one of the 26 Pakistani newspaper men aboard survived. He is Aman Allah, police reporter of the Karachi Leader.

REPORTED TROUBLE

Shortly before the crash the pilot of the four-jet Boeing 720-B airliner had reported a wing trouble with his wing flaps.

The eyewitnesses reported seeing a "ball of fire" in the sky as the airliner plunged to the ground in the Wadi el-Helwan area, southeast of Cairo.

The Boeing 720-B made its first flight Oct. 6, 1960. Four were ordered by Pakistan International Airlines up to October last year.

The plane has a maximum range of 6,180 miles and a normal operating range of 4,153 miles, with an average cruising speed of 531 miles an hour.

The airline set up a record of just under seven hours for the London-Karachi flight with the ground in the Wadi el-Helwan area in January, 1962.

U.S. Throws Bombs, Leaflets In 3 North Viet Nam Raids

SAIGON (CP)—United States aircraft made three separate strikes against military targets in North Viet Nam today and also dropped 30,000 leaflets, warning the Communists to halt aggression in South Viet Nam or "bear more disastrous consequences," a U.S. spokesman said.

The leaflets were dropped within 35 miles of Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital.

On the ground, the Viet Cong fired a short mortar barrage into a U.S. marine patrol 13 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one and wounding two others. The marines reported their return fire killed at least two guerrillas.

U.S. authorities said 63 Viet Cong were killed and six captured in three search and destroy operations in Binh Dinh province 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Five government men were killed and 13 wounded.

The leaflets dropped today said U.S. and South Vietnamese and U.S. aircraft were compelled to strike at military targets in North Viet Nam because of the "aggression" being waged by Communists in South Viet Nam.

The spokesman said 25 F-105 Thunderchiefs dropped the leaflets over Ninh Binh and then attacked a radar station on Hon Mat Island, 135 miles southeast of Hanoi. The flight over Ninh Binh was the third time U.S. aircraft had penetrated above the 20th parallel, the spokesman said.

Hope Fading For Lost Boy

MONTREAL (CP)—Provincial police continue their search today for missing four-year-old Michel Joly at St. Catharines, 35 miles north of here, but they feel there is little hope of finding him alive.

Thirty soldiers, with an army helicopter, who had been helping police and civilian volunteers in the search since Sunday, withdrew Wednesday. Police said today they are continuing to check the dense woods about Lake Duffy and to question cottagers and campers, but they believe the boy may have been drowned in the 2½-mile long artificial lake.

The water in the lake was lowered by two feet and skin divers were called in by police, but the muddy waters made their search difficult.

St. Joseph's elementary school held their play day in city hall Wednesday for Grades IV, V, VI and VII. Each grade was divided into four "houses" for competitions which included basketball, shooting, bingo and races. ter St. A total of 700 students had part in the play day organized by Robert Ducharme. He was assisted by 12 parents and four teachers. The trophy was presented three years ago by the Capozzi family. Each grade will take turns in displaying it.

Seek Fresh Boundaries For Okanagan Chambers

A bid was dropped that Kelowna might withdraw from the present Okanagan and Mainline Associated Chambers of Commerce and try to align new valley boundaries within the organization framework when the Chambers held their quarterly meeting Wednesday at the Duck Lake Inn, Winfield.

Jim Donald, secretary-manager of the Kelowna Chamber, told the gathering the city favored a type of organization with a north boundary on the Trans-Canada highway. This was sound economic thinking, he said, and although the North Thompson area and Kamloops were linked, they had few common interests with southern centres.

UNDECIDED
The Chambers were dealing with a letter from Westbank which pointed out that community had left one association, the Okanagan Boundary Association Chambers of Commerce, here and can find no resolutions tabled.

Ed Hill of Westbank said he was fine to visit and have with a complete valley group, but the duties of the Chambers were to continue now in existence at Okanagan Lake.

"We have not yet made up our mind whether we will join the Okanagan and Mainline group," he said.

City Man Elected To High Office By Provincial Foresters Group

Election of Fred Sice of Kelowna to the High Standing Committee of the British Columbia High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters (IOF) marks the first time a member from the Interior has been elevated to the provincial body since the Order came to the Valley 75 years ago.

Sigh Kobayashi of Winfield, who served six terms as Chief Ranger, said the election of Mr. Sice was one of the most important steps taken in the Order. The Independent Order of Foresters started in the Interior in 1890, with a lodge in Armstrong.

Family Physician Lifetime Study

The education of a family about current medical problems must go on all his life, said Dr. D. I. Rice of Toronto, who was the executive director of the annual meeting of the College of General Practitioners of Canada, held in Kelowna last week.

The doctor's meeting held in Kelowna this week was one of the largest ever held in the city. It was a gathering of family doctors from all over Canada, and it was a chance for them to discuss the latest in medical research and practice.

Dr. Rice explained that the CMA section of general practice is the administrative, educational and research arm of the profession. He said that the college was a body of family doctors who were interested in the education of the public.

Going into Russia is like going with three cars and a dozen people scattered on them are not received. From my experience, I don't know how they do it. It takes more than 100 seconds to find out from an over-looked person what is wrong with the machine and what type of repair is needed and have it fixed," he said.

Possessing all the essentials of a modern family saloon, the fact that this Countryman can be quickly converted into a sleek, spacious load-carrier has a particular appeal to all with a sporting instinct. For here is a vehicle equally at home in town or country surroundings. To the man with a family it provides more space in a competitively priced vehicle; for the man with a trade or professional calling — a sound, dependable vehicle which is more than acceptable for his private use, being built to deluxe specification. Indeed, the A60 Countryman offers the best in both fields — and, being an Austin, it's a very safe double investment!

THE M-G MIDGET

Every inch a thoroughbred. It's an old saying, but it's so true of this powerful new M.G. Midget (Mark II). With 30 years of experience and development behind it, today's Midget is one of the world's most popular sports cars.

THE MGB "SPORTS"

SUPERLATIVE in value. "Superlative" is a word to use with discretion. The "MGB" meets the challenge with complete confidence. It is built to do so. It has more power, more vivid acceleration, more brisk performance through the gears — consequently more safety; it has more room, more comfort, a superior ride, and more refinements. These advances are an impressive indication of the unbeatable value in the "MGB". The sports-car connoisseur will find in this car all that he has been looking for.

THE AUSTIN 1100

From your very first glimpse of the Austin 1100 Saloon there will be a lasting impression of British designing ingenuity and constructional craftsmanship at its sparkling best. Its clean, functional lines are styled to please and are yet completely unostentatious. The advanced engineering features you will find beneath its compact exterior are numerous — like the Hydrolastic suspension system which insures the road to velvet smoothness. Only by trying the Austin 1100 will you be convinced of the amazing contribution this system has made to the general handling and the fascinatingly level riding qualities you would only expect to find in much larger luxury limousines.

THE A-60 SEDAN

Lucky family! They can't fail to be the envy of the neighbourhood in their stylish new A60 Cambridge Saloon. And they're certain of a wonderful day out, because they know that their car offers the finest possible travelling comfort in its class. Fourth in the line of Cambridge Saloons, it incorporates all the essential attributes to modern motoring. For night driving, the electrical equipment is second to none. Brilliant illumination of the road ahead from cowed, double-dipping headlamps inspire confidence during the most arduous journey. In the most adverse conditions there's the comforting thought that flashing direction indicators are giving a precise indication of intention, and those long, self-parking windscreen wiper blades are designed in such a way that a large area of the screen is kept perfectly clear — even though it has a curved surface! With its wider than ever track and wheelbase, front and rear anti-roll bars, new power and superb suspension, the latest A60 Cambridge Saloon sits squarely on the road, hugs those hitherto tortuous corners and eats up distance with effortless ease. It's the finest of them all — and for today's family, it's their finest investment!

trade between Detroit Red

begin as a co-ownership deal.

Leaf manager, coach George

Punch Imlach said today.

"It started out as a one-for-one situation. Then Sid (Detroit coach Sid Abel) and I decided we might as well make it a hand-dandy of a trade and he gave me five for three.

Detroit sent defenseman Marcel Pronovost and Art Erickson and forwards Jerry Jeffrey and the Jovial and Lowell MacDonald to Toronto for forwards

Andy Bathgate, Billy Harris and minor leaguer Gary Jarrett.

Imlach was pleased with the deal, although he wouldn't say if Bathgate's public criticism of him last month prompted the trade.

Bathgate was quoted by the

Brampton, Ont., Times and Contributor as saying the Leafs missed a fourth straight Stanley

Cup because "there were exhausting practices and many players didn't get along with the coach."

Imlach said he was glad for Harris.

"This way he can stay in the

NHL. Also I am sure that we'll have the strongest player roster in the NHL. Pronovost is the finest best defenseman in the world. Jeffrey and Jovial are will also be useful."

Abel said he and Imlach had talked a couple of times about a deal.

"But I flew to Toronto last

Federal Constituencies Give Equal Representation

On Wednesday the commission set up to change the representation for British Columbia in the federal parliament made their proposals known.

Hearings are set up in a number of B.C. centres running from June through October so the commission may hear expressions of opinion from those who disagree with their proposal.

At first glance the proposals have changed things in the southern interior considerably.

Okanagan-Boundary, now represented by Progressive Conservative member David Pugh, will gain a good deal of territory in the Princeton-Merritt area.

David Pugh, when approached for his first impression of the changes took immediate note of the extra mileage he would have to travel to cover his territory.

It used to run east and west on a line through Kelowna. The new constituency runs east and west north of Okanagan through Chapperton, Min and over to the Nicola River at Merritt. It then goes south to the U.S. Boundary.

The intensive running activity now underway in the Merritt area interested Mr. Pugh. He foresees a great expansion of population in that area.

On the whole he said he was pleased with the new boundaries.

Okanagan Revelstoke, on the other hand, now held by Progressive Conservative Stuart Fleming, has disappeared. Mr. Fleming has announced he will not run for parliament. His former territory has been merged in the Liberal-held Kootenay East where James Byrne is in charge.

The constituency now winds from Vernon around to the Alberta and United States boundaries including territory north of the Columbia River, and taking in Kimberley and Fernie to the south.

If Mr. Pugh is worried about the miles he will have to travel, candidates in the new Okanagan-Kootenay constituency will have to have an aeroplane.

It would appear the commission sitting on the question kept pretty closely to the population criterion and came up with approximately 70,000 people in each division without thought to the miles travelled by candidates.

One of the larger constituencies, Coast-Chilcotin only has a population of 54,000 and some of the Vancouver areas run as high as 78,000, but most of them are nearer the 70,000 figure.

Mr. Justice Harold W. McInnes and his cohorts George F. Curtis, dean of law at UBC, Roderick Haig-Brown, magistrate and author of Campbell River and Nelson Castanogay, chief federal electoral officer seem to have done a first class job.

After all, representation by population is long overdue in all of Canada.

Teenagers' Jungle

Ottawa Packet and Times

The golden years — the happiest time — the wonderful springtime of life, this is how romantics have always seen the years of adolescence. This awkward era has never been this, of course, even in the remote past, but certainly the high school days that most present-day adults know must seem like a veritable paradise compared with the pressure-ridden jungle of today's teens. What a nightmare world we have created for the boys and girls — a world where they are shoved into today's special category of the Teen-Ager!

On the one hand a thousand cults, all commercially profitable, have been founded to exploit the teen-ager's yearning to conform, to "be with it" in every tiny detail, cults that shape every aspect of teen appearance, dress, manners, morals, pastimes, outlook, interests, and speech. On the other, pressures have steadily built up to widen and deepen and intensify the teen's education and experience. No longer are history and geography, language and literature and mathematics enough. There must be this occult science added to the curriculum if we are to keep pace with the needs of the new technical age, that nebulous art added if he is to become a well-rounded personality, able to integrate. Everything from rocketry to folk-dancing is considered essential grist to the teen-ager's mill, and he must excel in all of them, or fall behind in the mad race in which we have entered him. He is deluged with a wealth of advice, all of it conflicting, he must be disciplined, he must feel free to express himself. We cram his stores with pornography, then deplore his morals, we give him a car and money, then expect him home at 10. Surely never before has there been so much apparent pleasure yet so little real happiness in being of high school age!

Yet let our young people be of good heart, the great blessing of this period of life is that it is so wonderfully short. The excruciating embarrassment of saying the wrong thing, of wearing the unfashionable garment, of cutting a poor figure in the eyes of the opposite sex, all these will soon be forgotten, and the fortunate adult will remember and laugh with derision, or even, God forgive him, with nostalgia. The cheery chick who's currently the queen of the campus will all too soon be the harried mother of five on the wrong side of the tracks; it's that quiet little thing in the back row who'll grow up to drive men mad. And the curly-haired hero who's the envy of all the boys and the idol of all the girls will be wrapping parcels for a living when the spotty-faced gawk across the aisle from him is an international success, with Sophia Loren for his secretary.

In short, life eventually ends out. This may not remove much of the tension from the nightmare world of the modern teen-ager, but it should offer some consolation to the millions of wretches in the clutches of collegiate conformism. The adult world has its own troubles and tensions, but compared with those of pimples and platters, of Beatles and beats, of grades and girls and groups, they are as nothing. So what's a mere war?

IN PASSING

A metaphysician says if there are rats in your house, they will leave if you politely ask them to do so. This will also work with overstaying guests, if you aren't overly polite.

The suggestion being widely made that school dropouts be denied driver's licences should be carried a step further to include, also, those who fall to graduate from high school.

If this amended suggestion were put into effect, overall time spent by students in studying would be increased by a conservatively estimated 38 per cent.

FEWER SENT TO TAKE "THE LONG DROP"

The number of executions in Canada tapered off following public reaction to William G. Fisher's hanging. Progressive Conservative and Liberal cabinets have condemned the majority of death sentences since then and there have been no executions since 1962. Graph shows the number of death sentences passed and the portion of them eventually carried out. The number of death sentences passed tapered off with the designation of capital and non-capital murder in 1960. Only capital murder carries a death sentence. Parliament is expected to decide this summer whether to retain the death penalty. If retention is favored, there will be debate on whether to abolish the noose in favor of the electric chair or the gas chamber. — CP Newsman

Old English Law Jails Reporters

LONDON (Reuters) — Journalists who report proceedings in the British Parliament are trying to get rid of a legal anomaly by which they can be sent to prison.

There has been no prosecution since 1931, and for many years both government and opposition have been eager to get the maximum publicity for their views.

But no one has bothered to repeal the old laws which forbid the reporting of parliamentary debates.

Parliamentary reporters feel a good start could be made by repealing antiquated resolutions expressly forbidding them to do their job.

They also complain about lack of accommodation and facilities for meeting members of Parliament, although much has been done to improve both in recent years.

With or without permission, parliamentary proceedings have been reported in the newspapers and magazines for hundreds of years, though some printers in the 17th and 18th centuries courted danger in doing so.

At one time, Parliament had good reason to be secret, debating society. Secrecy was often a matter of life and death in the 17th century when Parliament was a struggling for power against monarchs who firmly believed in the divine right of kings.

On one occasion, in 1642, King Charles I went in person to the House of Commons to try to arrest five members whom he regarded as his enemies.

Parliament won the subsequent civil war, and Charles lost his head in 1649. But in 1660 members of the House of Commons were still adamantly against allowing their debates to be reported.

In that year, they resolved "that no person whatever do presume at his peril to print votes and proceedings of this House without such leave and order of this House."

As late as 1762, another resolution stated bluntly that the House would proceed with the "utmost severity" against offenders.

"It is high indignity to and a notorious breach of privilege of this House for any news writer or printer to presume to give any account of the debates," said the resolution.

The resolutions are still in force, and in theory be used to restrict reporters.

fit called Gulf Intercontinental Attorney-General Claude Wagner was a crown prosecutor when he initiated this case in 1962. The Quebec Securities Commission followed up fast by freezing Gulf Intercontinental's assets.

The money was obtained from 380 low-income families by a promise of 8 1/2 per cent interest on invested cash by four Americans who set up shop 2 1/2 years ago.

Centred in Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton but extending to nine provinces, the group transferred the money through New York to interlocking companies in Miami, Fla., and other U.S. cities.

Of the four men involved, one has been given a 25-year sentence in Miami and another faces a murder charge.

Extradition proceedings against two of the men have been started by Canadian authorities.

"Two years of hard work—sometimes 20,000 cheques must be studied in a single case—resulted in the break for small investors, and Mr. Wagner says criminal action may be the next step."

"This is one example of the effectiveness of our drive," the attorney-general said. "Most of those who get their money back had invested $200, $500 or $1,000, the small people."

OTTAWA REPORT

Just Paid Off Ottawa's Levy

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

I am writing this on Wednesday, May 12, although it will not be published in the Thomson Newspapers until some time later. This delay operates with every column I write. Its purpose is to permit simultaneous publication in newspapers as widely separated as the Guardian in Charlottesville and the Daily Free Press in Nanaimo—to mention our two most attractive off-shore islands, P.E.I. and Vancouver Island.

At 11:33 a.m. this morning—Wednesday, May 12—was the most important moment of the year—financially—for that hypothetical person The Average Canadian. That was the exact moment at which he (or she) would have finished paying off the current year's tax liabilities to federal, provincial, and municipal governments, if he had paid over every cent—1 repaid, every cent—which he had earned since New Year's Day.

Just think of that. For 131 days, 11 hours and 33 minutes, Mr. Average Canadian—or Mrs. or Miss—had to labor to pay for the cost of operating our federal, provincial and municipal governments. For the remaining 236 days and some hours in this year 1965, what you earn by your labor is yours to do what you like with.

GRASPING GOVERNMENT

Government spending is not merely soaring by year, it is even increasing as a proportion of our yearly income. It is growing, and that means that taxation is growing, faster than our earnings.

Last year Mr. Average Canadian had to work four days less to pay our taxes. We, as average Canadians, had paid the stiff government bill by May 7. Last year, you will remember, was a Leap Year, so we could work for the government on that extra day in February.

In the past year, total government spending has increased by more than $11 billion. It jumped to $15.9 billion. This increase was larger than the average increase over the previous seven heavy-spending years, which was less than $800 million each year.

Further, of course, last year as for those earlier years, our taxes did not cover the money spent by governments. We are leaving part of the bill for our children and grandchildren to pay. If we were fully paying our way, even now, on May 12, we would not see Mr. Average Canadian out of his tax woods for the year.

BIG "WHY"

The increasing tax bill reflects the greed of the Canadian voter. Unscrupulous politicians rival each other at elections, promising the voters the moon on a golden platter in exchange for their votes. So the greedy voters cast their ballot in favor of the most lavish promises—too unthinking and foolish to realize that they are being bribed with their own tax money, for only by raising taxes can the politicians pay for the present-day moon.

Remember, we have had four general elections within the past eight years, that means four successive sets of promises to be paid for, that is why the Average Canadian is working for governments for 131 days this year.

Remember also—for eight years in a row we have faced the year with a governmental deficit, isn't that a little irresponsible for our governments to go on spending money like drunken sailors on unessential trivia?

As this column suggested earlier, when drawing a comparison between the point Communism has reached and the point to which we are headed—our elected leaders have lost all sense of thrift, they are spending your money and mine with never a thought as to whether we can afford the trimmings, or indeed whether we need them.

Mother Tongue Rights Urged

WINNIPEG (CP) — School children whose mother tongue is Ukrainian or German or Dutch should have the opportunity to study their language in public schools, the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism is being told today.

This is the theme of briefs being submitted at the commission's public hearing here by Ukrainian, Mennonite and other organizations.

The Mennonite Society for the Promotion of the German Language in Canada and the Manitoba Mennonite Teacher's Association, which sponsors German and religious instruction in 125 elementary schools, submitted briefs that were similar in nature.

Like Ukrainian cultural organizations, the Mennonites say Canada is a multicultural rather than bicultural country.

The only official language and language of instruction outside Quebec should be English, the groups say. Second languages should not be imposed but chosen by parents or trustees in each school district.

"Since approximately one-third of all Canadians belong to minority groups, they should have the right to cultivate the language of their forefathers in order to continue to contribute to the culture of Canada," the Manitoba Mennonite brief says.

The Ukrainian Catholic Archdiocese of Winnipeg expresses similar views in its submission. It calls for a government agency to foster the growth of the Ukrainian Culture and teaching of Ukrainian in high schools and universities as an accredited, optional subject.

WANTS MORE FRENCH

The Home and School and Parent-Teacher Association of Manitoba, with 8,000 members, calls for an expansion of teaching of French and other languages.

The federation's brief says French should be available as the language of instruction in any town outside Quebec where French-speaking pupils are found in sufficient numbers and French teachers are available.

It also calls for teaching of third languages on an optional basis to help ethnic minorities maintain their culture.

Aref Speeds Over To Cairo As Prestige Takes Plunge

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Beiruts President, President Abdel Karim Aref of Iraq has sped to Cairo to meet with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Aref's prestige in Baghdad has fallen sharply since he fled the city in 1963. According to reports from Beirut, his regime could fall or undergo an important reshuffle soon.

The 44-year-old field marshal needs an alliance with Nasser and a bridgehead toward the Persian Gulf of Iraq and Nasser's United Arab Republic. Aref also needs to placate the forces in Iraq which regard such a union as betrayal.

Aref's government includes many Arab nationalists and also Iraqi nationalists who would hate to see their relatively prosperous oil country joined with Egypt. May Gen. Tahir Yassir, the premier, may be one of the.

Aref so far has kept a precarious balance between the quarrelling factions in Iraq. Many observers suspect that personally he is not so strong for union as his words have sounded, and that he may be trying now to save up the movement to nullify the nationalists.

But nationalists say Aref is more than ever in need of Nasser's support against the growing threats to his regime.

In Iraq's mountainous north, his army has launched another campaign against the Kurds. These non-Arab mountaineers, seeking some form of autonomy, have humiliated Iraqi armies before. Nasser is believed to have advised against resuming the war.

In the south, the Shia Moslems—who form the majority of Iraq's Arab population but are treated as a minority—have become increasingly restless under Aref's rule. An ardent member of the Sunni sect, he has been accused of condoning persecution of other religions, including the Christians.

The economy is in bad shape. The West is not happy with Aref nor is the East. The Soviet Union has criticized the operations against the Kurds. There have been reports that the ousted Baath Socialists, Aref's partners in the 1963 revolution against dictator Abdel Karim Kassem, now are working underground with the Communists and once were their bitter enemies.

Rumors have spread of a group of "free officers" who now talk nostalgically of old Nuri Said and his pro-Western regime. Aref had a hand in plotting Nuri's overthrow by Kassem in the bloody 1958 revolution that ended the Iraqi monarchy.

Canadian Communities "In Need Of Living Space"

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The need for breathing space in city governments and urban traffic sparked the comments of speakers Tuesday at an annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities here.

William Allen, Metropolitan Toronto chairman, and geographer professor E. G. Pleva of the University of Western Ontario both supported the idea of expanding city governments.

Halifax Mayor Charles Vaughan made an appeal to the federal and provincial governments to help end motor vehicle congestion in big cities.

Prof. Pleva said local government problems today are regional in scope and referred to the acceptance of regional government as a priority item.

Local administrative units must be related more closely to man's actual living space, he said, and added that man does not live entirely in one small area, as in the days when the street car measured the size of the city.

"Our greatest difficulty rests in a cultural lag in bringing our inherited form of local government based largely on rural, low density concepts, to the scale of the new urban communities," he said.

"IMPROVES SERVICES"

Mr. Allen said unification of municipal services will not decrease costs, but said the improved services justified any increase that may occur.

Referring to the Toronto planning area, Mr. Allen said the city was stagnant before the city and 12 suburbs were united in a regional government that maintained the local government.

But he said the Ontario government's regional planning policy is based on adjoining municipalities voluntarily co-operating with each other.

This "utopian hope of regional planning will remain a myth" until there is one council over the entire area, he said.

The cost of moving urban traffic should be shared by the federal and provincial authorities, Mr. Vaughan said.

Local administrative units will reduce the number of Chinese studying at Russian universities. It said the reason offered will probably be shortage of accommodation, but the true cause is suspicion that Chinese students organized the march in which the U.S. Embassy in Moscow was attacked.

Middlewest Soon Bounds Back After Damage By Tornadoes

KOKOMO, Ind. (AP) — The middlewestern United States, with a lot of outside help, has demonstrated it can bounce back from disaster.

It will take years to restore the Palm Sunday tornado belts to something near normal but a stout start was made in the first four weeks after one of the country's most destructive storms.

Thousands of volunteers, from two states to convicts, have cleared streets and highways and made some progress toward clearing debris from private property.

Replacing destroyed buildings by the thousands is a long range job but it's moving. Less than a month after the storm, insurance companies had closed out more than half of the claims.

"I'm very proud of the insurance industries in this disaster," said John H. Shuttleton of New York, assistant to the general adjuster of the American Insurance Association.

There have been others where I wasn't so proud."

MOST WELL INSURED

He and Red Cross officials agreed that an unusually high proportion of homes and industries carried adequate insurance. Estimates on destroyed or damaged houses covered by inclusive home-owners' policies range from 90 to 95 per cent. These policies even cover living expenses while new homes are built.

Some religious sects such as the Amish, who don't approve of insurance, are helping one another rebuild smashed buildings, and also are working on non-members' homes.

Chevron Gasolines

When it comes to additives, Chevron Gasolines have an unsurpassed record.

In 1960 (to take just one example) Chevron led the whole industry by introducing Methyl — the biggest breakthrough in anti-knock additives since Ethyl, 36 years earlier.

Meanwhile, the efficiency of Chevron Gasolines had been increasing in many other ways over the years. A special additive was developed to banish carburetor-icing. The famous Chevron Detergent-Action formula was perfected to keep your carburetor as clean as the day it was installed. Advances in refining processes assured the best possible octane values for new and older engines alike.

Today, Chevron Gasolines are in a class by themselves because of the compound progress constantly made towards ultimate perfection. They contain not just the latest additive. Our research shows they represent the sum total of every element known to date that goes to make Chevron Gasolines truly superb — tested and proven for over a generation in the only place where it matters: the engine of your car.

Compound progress adds up to COMPOUND POWER. And with COMPOUND POWER the miles cost you less. Drive into your nearest Standard Station or Chevron Dealer this week and try a tankful for yourself...

Penticton-Kamloops Couple Married In Kelowna Church

Assorted carnations decorated St. Paul's Church on May 15 at 2 p.m. for the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Edward John Gerk of Kamloops, and Gordon Frederick Solloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Solloway of Penticton. Rev. Father Martin officiated at the ceremony and the wedding march was played by Mrs. D. Beck.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride wore a floor-length gown of nylon tulle and net. Her fitted bodice was trimmed with sequins and simulated pearls and her full skirt was of net with blue and white inserts. A tulle of pearls held in place her veil of nylon tulle and she wore a blue garter borrowed from her aunt, Mrs. J. Lingor for "something old, something borrowed, something blue." She carried a bouquet of red roses tied with long white satin streamers dotted with rose buds.

The maid of honor, Miss Gloria Lingor of Westbank, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sandra Solloway of Penticton, were charming in street-length dresses of blue nylon tulle over rayon taffeta, fashioned with bodices of nylon and avicelle lace. Their accessories were white, their headresses carried veils of fine blue mesh tulle and they carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Attending the groom were Donald Hagen of Victoria and Bill Rieger of Kelowna, and ushering the guests to their seats were Ronald Gerk of Kamloops, brother of the bride, and Brian Solloway of Penticton, brother of the groom.

At the reception following the ceremony at the Capri Motor Hotel, the mother of the bride received wearing a dress of soft pink tulle featuring a floating panel at back, a pink flowered hat, white accessories, and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother, who assisted her in receiving the guests chose a blue linen suit accented with a white hat, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The toast to the bride, proposed by her uncle, John Koster of Kelowna, was duly answered by the groom. The best man gave the toast to the bridesmaids, and returning the bride's toast which was decorated with vases of assorted flowers was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lingor of Ashcroft, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Michael Vukin of Kamloops, Don Hagen of Victoria, Miss Judy Solloway of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. Duncanson of Vancouver.

For her honeymoon, trip to Southern points in British Columbia the bride dressed a pink linen suit complemented with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The newlyweds will reside in Kelowna.

thing Tom had to be hospitalized. That same day the dog had been hospitalized because he had become so weak from malnutrition he could barely walk."

"She continued, "Six weeks later Tom returned home feeling much better. When the dog was brought home he was still melancholy. Upon seeing his master improved the dog jerked right up."

My husband and I believe that pet-lovers who become involved with their animals imagine all sorts of things. We can't buy her story. What do you think?"

DOUBTERS

Dear Doubters: Animals have distinct personalities. It is not uncommon for personalities to be influenced by what happens around them. I do not doubt this story for one moment.

Dear Ann Landers: When I married my husband five years ago we were both in our middle 40's. Each year our marriage seemed to be rockier than the year before. I begged him to get professional help but his stock reply was, "I am all right, YOU are the one who is nuts."

Several months ago when my husband became abusive I packed up and left him because I feared for my life.

I haven't seen him for three weeks, but he telephones every day to say he loves me. He wants a divorce so he can start courting me again and decide if we should be remarried.

I'm hoping we can recapture the wonderful joys we knew when we first met. Is there a chance?—DREAMS OF THE PAST

Dear Pam: No and if you would stop dreaming long enough to remember what your marriage was really like you'd know better, too. Why do you think your husband is going to treat you differently the second time around? Get with it, Sister.

Dear Ann Landers: The afternoon I glanced out the window as I was doing my dusting and I just happened to see the woman next door shaking my four-year-old son by the arm. I dashed out and ordered her to take her hands off my child. She shouted, "Bernard is always hitting my Albert and I'm not going to put up with it any longer."

Both children are four years of age, but my Bernard is a little bit larger than her Albert.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Twenty Families Eke Existence As Dominica Revolt Splutters On

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—In a stench-filled reception hall at Guaiter Hospital, 20 families live without light or water, waiting for the battle to end near their homes.

Their homes are on Maximino Gomez Ave. Tanks and troops have been fighting all week from house to house near this street, trying to drive the rebels out of the northern section of the Dominican Republic capital.

The army came on Monday and had us to leave," said Mrs. Matilda Garcia, the wife of a laborer, a pump woman in her late 20s.

One of her children sat naked and crying on the cement floor as Mrs. Garcia explained. "They came into every house searching for arms. They made the men take off their shirts and examined their shoulders for rifle butt marks. All night there was shooting, and bullets came into the bedroom. In the morning we left and the house is wide open."

Mrs. Aurora Ramirez, a neighbor, lost her two-story home. A tank crew blasted it down at 5:30 p.m. Sunday as the apart with random fire, thinking it was a rebel hideout. Damage estimated at $500.

Deaths toll high. Hundreds have fled from this crowded area of shabby homes and industries as troops of the military - civilian junta slowly advance. Hospitals report a death toll of more than 50, but many believe it is higher. A U.S. military attaché, who has been waiting the fighting from a hilltop, says: "There may be as many as 500 dead in the houses and streets. We don't know until the shooting stops and we can get into the area. This is a costly fight by its nature. If there is a long and damage is not extended in a house, and a tank destroyed the building to get him to the strong wall, he said."

Three-Car Crash Reported To Police

RCMP said a three-car collision at 5:30 p.m. Sunday on the 10th block on Bedford Ave. resulted in damage estimated at $500.

Drivers involved were William Bracey, 30, R.H. 5, Kew-wood Ave., and Stanley Edgar Thorne, 31, 1, West Park Ave. Thorne was reported to Police and Mr. Thorne was charged with following too close.

RCMP said a neighbor reported a wall collapsed at the construction site of Gordon's Super Value on Lawrence Ave. at 5:30 p.m. Sunday. Police said a cement truck was backing up and a 20-foot wall had fallen down into the area. This is a costly fight by its nature. If there is a long and damage is not extended in a house, and a tank destroyed the building to get him to the strong wall, he said."

Opening lead—two of spades. Some players falsecard all the time, whether the role they are playing at the moment happens to be that of declarer or defender.

Presumably these players gain by their tactics when they become declarer, since they may succeed in fooling the opponents without at the same time fooling partner, but they often come to grief on defense when their efforts boomerang and mislead partner instead of declarer.

Despite this, there is no question that a well-timed defensive falsecard can be highly effective on a particular occasion, as proved to be the case in this hand from a team of four.

At the first table the play went smoothly and South made spade lead with the jack, ran six heart tricks, discarding three clubs and a diamond, and then led a diamond towards the king. The cards being distributed the way they were, South could not be stopped from making three trump.

At the second table, against the same contract and the same opening lead, declarer went down one as the result of a diversionary attack by West.

Here also South won the spade lead with the jack, but when he now played a low heart to the queen, West falsecarded with the jack.

This apparently innocuous play caused South to change his campaign of action. Instead of running the entire heart suit, he immediately switched to a low heart back to the ten, trying to protect against the possibility that West had started with the singleton jack and East with the 9-7-4-2.

When West followed to the second heart lead, declarer realized that he had been misled, but it was then too late for him to do anything other than to play a club and finesse the queen, but East took the king, returned a spade, and South had to go down one.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Planetary influences will be somewhat adverse on Friday, especially where personal matters are concerned. An inauspicious Venus aspect could bring disappointment or friction in heart affairs and, unless you are careful, relationships with even the most intimate of friends could become strained. Your cue: Tact! Diplomacy!

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, this new year in your life promises important gains if you exercise initiative and are willing to forego some immediate personal desires in the interest of more lasting benefits. Both job and financial advances are indicated between June 1 and mid-September, also in early October, late December and the three months beginning with the 1st of March of next year. Special recognition for creative workers is due in June, September and/or January.

If you are matrimonially-minded, you may, even unexpectedly, wend your way to the altar before the end of June, in late August, late October, next February or April. June and next April, however, will be especially propitious. Family and home interests will be governed by generous influences for most of the year ahead, but be alert to possible tension and resultant friction—over an aggravating situation between early November and mid-December. Best periods for travel and social activities: the week between June 1 and mid-September, also late October, late December and January.

A child born on this day will be warm-hearted and generous, but extremely temperamental.
